

The existing Data Protection Act is replaced by the General Data Protection Regulation on 25th May 2018.

When you joined The Arts Society Dorking you supplied your name, address, telephone number, and an emergency contact's name and telephone number. You may also have provided an email address.

Your details will be processed lawfully and fairly in order to provide the benefits of membership, and ensure that you receive the latest news and information about all forthcoming events.

Your name and address only will be shared with The Arts Society and its Area organisations for the mailing of the Quarterly Magazine and the dissemination of information on their legitimate activities.

Your details will not be passed to any other person or organisation and will be kept safely and securely.

Your rights under the new regulation

You can ask The Arts Society Dorking, through the Chairman, to provide to you with a copy of the personal information it holds about you. You can ask by written request to make changes to this data or indeed delete all of it. You can also ask The Arts Society Dorking to change how it communicates with you. We undertake to respond to any such requests, without charge, within 28 days.
